

Patience

The impatient are always
in a hurry.

They are trapped in the future
attached to fear and time.

The impatient follow self-made goals that go nowhere.

The patient are never
in a hurry.

They are totally in the present,
bathed in timeless loving.

The patient have no need for goals,
except to be Home
in the Heart of God.

The patient are patient
because they know
they are already there.

Gerald G. Jampolsky